Case No.

COMPLAINT FOR PERMANENT INJUNCTION
AND DECLARATORY
JUDGMENT

1 I. NATURE OF THE CASE AND BACKGROUND TO CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

2 1. Over ten years ago, the Supreme Court of the United States recognized that 3 the federal constitution protects the choice to have an intimate relationship with a same-
4 sex partner “without intervention of the government.” Lawrence v. Texas, 539 U.S. 558, 5 578 (2003).

6 2. Six months ago, the Supreme Court struck Section 3 of the Defense of 7 Marriage Act (DOMA), which barred any federal marital benefits to same-sex couples
8 who were legally married in states that permitted such marriages. See United States v.
9 Windsor, 133 S.Ct. 2675 (2013).

10 3. Today, Plaintiffs ask this Court to follow the reasoning in Windsor and 11 strike Arizona’s ban on same-sex marriage found in Article 30, Section 1 of the Arizona
12 Constitution (and other laws of the State of Arizona).

13 4. It is widely expected that the Supreme Court will eventually resolve this 14 issue. Until that decision, Plaintiffs seek this Court’s declaration that the Fifth
15 Amendment, as incorporated by the Fourteenth Amendment, bars Arizona from the same
16 discriminatory conduct that the Windsor court declared unconstitutional.

17 A. Arizona’s Marital Laws Prohibit Same-Sex Marriage.

18 5. In 1996, immediately following Congressional passage of DOMA, Arizona’s
19 forty-second legislature banned same-sex marriage. See Arizona Revised Statutes
20 (“A.R.S.”) § 25-101(C)(“Marriage between persons of the same sex is void and 21 prohibited.”). That same Arizona legislature also prohibited recognition of same-sex
22 marriages that were otherwise valid under another state’s law. See A.R.S. § 25-
23 112(A)(“Marriages valid by the laws of the place where contracted are valid in this state, 24 except marriages that are void and prohibited by section 25-101.”).

25 6. Three years later, in 1999, the Arizona legislature approved amendments to 26 several statutes related to marriage, including a statutory definition of marriage as 27 between a male and a female person. See A.R.S. § 25-125(A)(“A valid marriage is 28 contracted by a male person and a female person with a proper marriage license[.]”). The

1 legislature also provided that persons “shall not be joined in marriage in [Arizona] until a 2 license has been obtained for that purpose from the clerk of the superior court in any 3 county of this state.” A.R.S. § 25-121(A).

4 7. In 2003, the Arizona Court of Appeals upheld Arizona’s definition of 5 marriage. See Standhardt v. Superior Court, 77 P.3d 451 (App. 2003)(accepting special
6 action jurisdiction over a challenge to the clerk of the court’s refusal to issue a marriage
7 license to a same sex couple).

8 8. In 2006, Arizona voters rejected an amendment to the state constitution
9 banning same-sex marriage.

10 9. In 2008, the Arizona legislature referred and the voters of Arizona passed 11 Proposition 102, an amendment to the Arizona Constitution barring State recognition of 12 same-sex marriages. See Ariz. Const. art. 30, § 1 (“Only a union of one man and one 13 woman shall be valid or recognized as a marriage in this state.”).

14 10. The Arizona Constitution now prevents gay men and women from entering 15 into a marriage with a committed same-sex life partner.

16 11. The Arizona Constitution further prohibits the State from honoring a valid, 17 same-sex marriage sanctioned by another jurisdiction.

18 12. As a result, same-sex couples who desire to marry cannot do so in Arizona.
19 Moreover, Arizona denies recognition of the marriages of those gay men and women who 20 have entered into valid marriages elsewhere in the United States.

21 B. Arizona’s Ban on Same-Sex Marriage Violates the Equal Protection
22 and Due Process Clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment.

23 13. Seventeen years ago, the Supreme Court confirmed that the U.S.
24 Constitution prohibits discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation. See Romer v.
25 Evans, 517 U.S. 620, 635–36 (1996).

26 14. Nevertheless, today, twenty-eight states have constitutional prohibitions
27 against same-sex marriage and another four states—West Virginia, Wyoming,
28 Pennsylvania, and Indiana—prohibit same-sex marriage under state law.

1           15.     Setting aside the Ninth Circuit’s now-vacated decision in Perry v. Brown,
2 the only federal circuit court that squarely faced this issue upheld the “traditional”
3 definition of marriage. See Citizens for Equal Protection v. Bruning, 455 F.3d 859 (8th Cir.
4 2006)(holding that Nebraska state constitutional amendment defining marriage as 5 “between a man and a woman” did not violate Equal Protection Clause; and reversing
6 contrary district court opinion under 42 U.S.C. § 1983).

7           16.     Before Windsor, the federal district courts in the Ninth Circuit that had 8 most recently considered the constitutionality of such laws also upheld the definition of 9 marriage as the union between one man and one woman. See Jackson v. Abercrombie, 884
10 F.Supp. 2d 1065 (D. Haw. 2012); Sevcick v. Sandoval, 911 F.Supp. 2d 996 (D. Nev. 2012).

11           17.     But, deep change has taken place elsewhere in the country. Today, same-
12 sex marriage is allowed in states where over forty percent of Americans live. Late last 13 year, Hawaii became the sixteenth state to recognize same-sex marriage.

14           18.     In December 2013, the U.S. District Court for the District of Utah and the 15 unanimous New Mexico Supreme Court made Utah and New Mexico the seventeenth 16 and eighteenth states to join the list of states that recognize same-sex marriage.

17           19.     And, six months ago, the U.S. Supreme Court’s opinion in Windsor
18 confirmed a profound doctrinal change in the law whose origins stretch back forty-six 19 years to the historic decision in Loving v. Virginia, 388 U.S. 1, 12 (1967)(recognizing 20 marriage as “one of the ‘basic civil rights of man[ ]’”(citation omitted)).

21           20.     In Windsor, the Supreme Court held that the definition of marriage in 22 Section 3 of the federal Defense of Marriage Act (“DOMA”) as “a legal union between 23 one man and one woman” was unconstitutional as a deprivation of equal protection under 24 the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. More precisely, Windsor held that the 25 definition of marriage as a legal union between a man and a woman was unconstitutional 26 because it denied same-sex married couples “the benefits and responsibilities that come 27 with the federal recognition of their marriages.” 133 S.Ct. at 2693.

28           21.     Two federal district courts, including one in the Ninth Circuit, have since

1 followed that rationale by applying the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth
2 Amendment to the states and striking state laws that either banned same-sex marriage or 3 recognition of such marriages. See Kitchen v. Herbert, 2013 WL 6697874 (D. Utah)(Dec.
4 20, 2013); Obergefell v. Wymyslo, 2013 WL 6726688 (S.D. Ohio)(Dec. 23, 2013).

5 22. The “freedom to marry has long been recognized as one of the vital 6 personal rights essential to the orderly pursuit of happiness by free men.” Loving v.
7 Virginia, 388 U.S. 1, 12 (1967).

8 23. This Court should reach the conclusion that flows from the decisions in 9 Loving v. Virginia, Lawrence v. Texas and United States v. Windsor.

10 24. Plaintiffs respectfully ask that this Court enforce their fundamental right to 11 equal protection and due process under the United States Constitution, and declare as 12 unconstitutional Article 30, Section 1 of the Arizona Constitution and all similar marital 13 statutes (“Marriage Discrimination Statutes”), and permanently enjoin the enforcement
14 of any and all other provisions of Arizona law that may deny Plaintiffs equal access to the 15 benefits of marriage in the State of Arizona, including the right of same-sex couples to 16 marry in or have their out-of-state marriages recognized by the State of Arizona.

17 18 II. JURISDICTION, PARTIES AND VENUE

19 A. Federal Question Jurisdiction

20 25. Because Plaintiffs allege violations of rights arising under the Fourteenth
21 Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and 42 U.S.C. § 1983, this Court has subject matter
22 jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1343(a)(3).

23 26. Given the far-reaching doctrinal change in the law confirmed by the 24 decisions in Windsor and Hollingsworth v. Perry, 133 S.Ct. 2652 (2013), Plaintiffs raise 25 substantial federal questions despite the contrary conclusion reached over forty years ago
26 in Baker v. Nelson, 409 U.S. 810 (1972) (summarily dismissing “for want of substantial 27 federal question” appeal from Minnesota Supreme Court decision upholding statute that 28 restricted marriage to opposite-sex couples).

1 responsibilities, and otherwise living together as any married couple would.

2 42. Holly and Suzanne actively volunteer their time and resources to various
3 community childcare endeavors. Suzanne, for example, is a troop leader in the Purple
4 Sage Council, a local chapter of the Girl Scouts of America, and both Holly and Suzanne 5 serve as foster care mentors.

6 43. Like any other Arizona couple and family, they hoped to marry in their state 7 of residence and enjoy the benefits that flow from recognition of their marriage.

8 44. For years, Holly and Suzanne wished to confirm their love for and life-long
9 commitment to one another. Unfortunately, they live in Arizona where the law prohibits 10 their marriage.

11 45. Because the law of Arizona prohibits them from becoming married and 12 affirmatively denies the validity of any marriage they might legally enter in another state,
13 Holly and Suzanne have no way to validate their union as a legal marriage in their home 14 state.

15 46. Despite having been denied the dignity and benefits the State of Arizona
16 affords others solely because they are a same-sex couple, Holly and Suzanne continue to 17 live as a married couple and treat all household finances and other responsibilities 18 accordingly.

19 47. In 2008, Holly and Suzanne began planning for the future of their family.
20 Holly and Suzanne decided to foster and ultimately adopt children into their loving 21 family.

22 48. In September of 2009, Holly and Suzanne both began attending the 23 Partnering for Safety and Permanence-Model Approach to Partnership in Parenting ("PS-24 MAPP") classes required to become licensed foster parents in Arizona.

25 49. Holly and Suzanne became certified foster care parents in late 2009.

26 50. Holly and Suzanne wished to grow their family by becoming permanent 27 adoptive parents.

1           51. Although Holly and Suzanne were able to become certified foster care
2 parents, Arizona law strongly prefers heterosexual couples in permanent adoption
3 proceedings and permits only a husband and wife to jointly adopt. See A.R.S. § 8-
4 103(A)(“A husband and wife may jointly adopt children.”).

5           52. Given these obstacles, Holly and Suzanne, committed to raising a family
6 together, made the difficult decision to adopt in Suzanne’s name only.

7           53. If they could have legally married, both Holly and Suzanne would not have 8 faced these hurdles and both would have been listed on the State’s certification for 9 adoption.

10          54. In November 2009, Holly and Suzanne received their first foster care 11 placements.

12          55. Both children were quickly approved for adoption. Holly and Suzanne 13 adopted the youngest in November 2010 and the oldest in July 2011.

14          56. Suzanne is the legal adoptive parent of both children.

15          57. Holly and Suzanne continue to serve as foster parents, and are currently the 16 foster parents of an 18-month-old child in addition to their two adopted children.

17          58. Given the statutory and policy obstacles same-sex couples face in Arizona,
18 Holly currently has no legal parental rights over either of her adopted children.

19          59. One of their children has a rare and chronic medical condition that has 20 required and will continue to require years of ongoing medical treatment.

21          60. But only Suzanne, as the sole legal parent, may authorize the required 22 treatments and medical procedures.

23          61. Should a family emergency make Suzanne unavailable, Holly cannot guide
24 medical decisions or authorize life-saving medical treatment if her children so require.

25          62. Because Arizona law has prevented Holly from becoming the second legal 26 parent of her children, only Suzanne can remove the children from school to take them to 27 doctors’ appointments.

1 and, (b) all those who, like Joe and Terry, and Chris and Mason, reside in the State of 2 Arizona and have legally married one another under the laws and procedures of another
3 state, but to someone of the same sex, and whose marriage for that reason alone is not
4 recognized as valid under Arizona law.

5 C. The Defendants

6 88. This Court has personal jurisdiction over the defendants because they are 7 domiciled in the State of Arizona.

8 89. Defendant Janice K. Brewer, the governor and chief executive officer of the 9 State of Arizona, conducts official business from her office located in this District (in 10 Phoenix, Arizona). Gov. Brewer must, among other duties, “supervise the official 11 conduct of all executive and ministerial officers.” A.R.S. § 41-101(A).

12 90. Defendant Thomas C. Horne, the chief legal officer of the State of Arizona, 13 conducts official business from his office located in this District (in Phoenix, Arizona).

14 91. Under Arizona law, the governor may serve no more than two consecutive 15 terms in office. Most authorities believe that the law does not allow Gov. Brewer to seek a 16 third term, so, under current law, she must leave office at the end of her term (2014). She 17 likely would vacate the office of Governor, therefore, during the pendency of this lawsuit.

18 92. Attorney General Horne faces uncertain re-election to his office in 19 November 2014.

20 93. In such cases—where the defendant public officer leaves office during the 21 suit—the officer’s successor is automatically substituted as a party (e.g., Fed.R.App.Proc.
22 43(c)(1)). See Kentucky v. Graham, 473 U.S. 159 (1985). Plaintiffs give notice of the same 23 here.

24 94. Defendant Michael K. Jeanes, the Clerk of the Court of Maricopa County, 25 Arizona, conducts official business from his office located in this District (in Phoenix, 26 Arizona). In every county of Arizona, the superior court clerk serves as an officer of the 27 judicial branch of state government. Ariz. Const. art. 6, § 23. The duties of the superior
28 court clerk, described generally in A.R.S. § 12-283, include operation of a marriage license

1 office, where Defendant Jeanes receives applications for and issues marriage licenses (or,
2 as described on the Clerk’s website, so-called “Traditional Marriage Licenses”).

3 95. Defendants, and those under their supervision, including Does 1–25, 4 interpret and enforce state laws related to marriage in Arizona, especially those 5 constitutional and statutory provisions that deny same-sex couples the right to marriage
6 in the State of Arizona.

7 96. Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class seek relief against each Defendant and each
8 Defendant’s officers, employees, and agents, and against all persons acting in cooperation
9 with Defendants, or under their supervision, at their direction, or under their control.

10 D. Venue

11 97. Venue lies in this Court under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b) because every 12 Defendant resides in this District and events giving rise to the claims for relief occurred in 13 the District.

14 98. The case is founded on causes of action arising in the Phoenix Division of 15 the District. L. R. Civ. 77.1.

16 E. Facts Common to All Claims for Relief

17 99. In 1996, Congress passed and President Clinton signed into law the so-
18 called Defense of Marriage Act (“DOMA”), 110 Stat. 2419. In Section 3, DOMA
19 provided in part that “the word ‘marriage’ means only a legal union between one man 20 and one woman as husband and wife, and the word ‘spouse’ refers only to a person of the 21 opposite sex who is a husband or wife.” 1 U.S.C. § 7. Section 2 provided that no state
22 shall be required to give effect to same-sex marriages recognized in other states. 28 U.S.C.
23 § 1738C.

24 100. Along with many other states, Arizona followed suit and, in 1996 and 1999, 25 passed similar laws.

26 101. Meanwhile, the Lawrence case was taking shape in Texas. In 1998, Harris 27 County, Texas sheriff’s officers arrested two gay men in their bedroom for violation of 28 the state’s anti-sodomy law. The case reached the U.S. Supreme Court, which struck

1 down the Texas laws that criminalized adult, consensual, homosexual sex because the 2 Fourteenth Amendment’s Due Process Clause “gives substantial protection to adult
3 persons in deciding how to conduct their private lives in matters pertaining to sex.”
4 Lawrence v. Texas, 539 U.S. 558, 572 (2003). Moreover, the Court declared, the Due
5 Process Clause broadly protects “the autonomy of the person,” including “personal 6 decisions relating to marriage, procreation, contraception, family relationships, child
7 rearing, and education.” Id. at 573–74 (citing Planned Parenthood of Se. Pa. v. Casey, 505
8 U.S. 833, 851 (1992)).

9 102. Even so, in 2008, the voters of Arizona approved an amendment to the state
10 constitution that banned same-sex marriage. See Ariz. Const., art. 30, § 1.

11 103. Five years later, in 2013, the Windsor case reached the U.S. Supreme Court.
12 In June of last year, the Windsor Court struck Section 3 of DOMA as unconstitutional
13 under the Fifth Amendment. The Court relied on Lawrence, among other cases, and 14 declared that DOMA’s restrictive definition of marriage as “only a legal union between 15 one man and one woman” violated the principles of due process and equal protection and 16 was therefore unconstitutional. Windsor, 133 S.Ct. at 2695–96.

17 104. Years after Lawrence, and months after Windsor, the State of Arizona
18 continues to discriminate against gay couples by doing what the federal government 19 (wrongly) accomplished through DOMA: denying same-sex couples their fundamental 20 right to marry.

21 105. Like the offending provision of DOMA (Section 3), Arizona law imposes
22 inequality on same-sex couples in violation of the U.S. Constitution.

23 106. The text of Article 30, section 1 of the Arizona Constitution, which defines 24 marriage as the “union of one man and one woman,” mirrors the text in Section 3 of 25 DOMA that was stricken as unconstitutional by the Supreme Court in Windsor. Compare
26 Ariz. Const. art. 30, § 1 (“Only a union of one man and one woman shall be valid or 27 recognized as a marriage in this state.”), with 1 U.S.C. § 7 (“the word ‘marriage’ means 28 only a legal union between one man and one woman as husband and wife”).

1           107. Because the Marriage Discrimination Laws facially discriminate against
2 same-sex couples, they are plainly infirm under the Equal Protection and Due Process
3 Clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment. Additionally, the Marriage Discrimination Laws
4 are unconstitutional under the Full Faith and Credit Clause of the federal constitution 5 because they prohibit recognition of valid same-sex marriages legally executed and 6 recorded under the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of other states.

7
8 III. CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

9
10 FIRST CLAIM
11 Enforcement of Full Faith and Credit Clause
12 and 42 U.S.C. § 1983

13           108. Plaintiffs incorporate paragraphs 1–107 as though fully set forth.

14           109. The Arizona Constitution explicitly recognizes the U.S. Constitution as 15 supreme. See Ariz. Const. art. 2, § 3 (“The Constitution of the United States is the 16 supreme law of the land.”).

17           110. The U.S. Constitution provides in part that “[f]ull faith and credit shall be 18 given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other 19 state.” U.S. Const. art. IV, § 1. Thus, just as Arizona gives full faith and credit to the legal 20 out-of-state marriage of an opposite-sex couple, it must likewise, under both the Arizona
21 Constitution and the Full Faith and Credit Clause of the U.S. Constitution, give full faith 22 and credit to the legal out-of-state marriages of same-sex couples.

23           111. Taken together, A.R.S. §§ 25-112(A) and -101 deny the validity of out-of-24 state marriages, such as, for example, the marriages of Plaintiffs Joseph Connolly and 25 Terrel Pochert; Mason Hite and Chris Devine; and others similarly situated. Therefore, 26 facially and as applied to Plaintiffs and Married Class Members, these statutes violate the 27 Full Faith and Credit Clause of the U.S. Constitution.

28           112. Granted, the Windsor Court did not reach and therefore let stand Section 2 of DOMA, which provides that no state “shall be required to give effect to any public

1 act” by another state that validates same-sex marriage. 28 U.S.C. § 1738C.

2 113. But, although Congress “may by general laws prescribe the manner in 3 which [the public acts of other states] shall be proved, and the effect thereof[, ]” U.S.
4 Const. art. IV, § 1, Congress may not supersede the federal constitution, including the 5 Full Faith and Credit Clause.

6 114. And so, if any Defendant seeks to rely on Section 2 of DOMA in support of 7 the Arizona laws refusing to recognize valid out-of-state marriages between same-sex
8 partners, then this Court should also strike Section 2 of DOMA as an unconstitutional
9 exercise of the authority granted Congress in contravention of the Full Faith and Credit
10 Clause and Article IV of the U.S. Constitution, which in turn violates 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

11 115. Plaintiffs accordingly pray for the relief described in paragraphs 144–150
12 below.

13 SECOND CLAIM
14 Violation of Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment and 42 U.S.C. § 1983

15 116. Plaintiffs incorporate paragraphs 1–115 as though fully set forth.

16 117. The Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment requires 17 consideration whether the classifications drawn by a state law constitute “an arbitrary and 18 invidious discrimination.” Loving, 388 U.S. at 10. A state law that singles out 19 homosexuals for disfavored treatment and imposes inequality on them violates the 20 principle of equal protection under the law. Windsor, 133 S.Ct. at 2694–96.

21 118. The Marriage Discrimination Laws do exactly that. For example, A.R.S.
22 Sections 25-101(C), -112(A), and -125(A), together with article 30, section 1 of the state 23 constitution, restrict access to marriage to opposite-sex couples, thereby denying 24 homosexuals the right to marry their chosen partner.

25 119. These laws treat similarly situated persons differently by conferring the 26 benefits and protections of marriage to heterosexual but not homosexual couples. Stated
27 differently, these Arizona laws single out homosexuals for disfavored treatment.
28

1 married under the laws of another state or wish to be married in Arizona. The common
2 questions of law presented by all Class Members include the following:

- 3 a. whether the Marriage Discrimination Laws violate the 4 Equal Protection or Due Process Clauses of the 5 Fourteenth Amendment of United States
6 Constitution; and,
7 b. whether the Marriage Discrimination Laws violate the 8 Full Faith and Credit Clause of the United States
9 Constitution.

10 134. Typicality: The Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the Class
11 Members. By denying Plaintiffs the right to marry, or recognize their out-of-state
12 marriage, the State of Arizona, through Defendants, denies Plaintiffs (and the Plaintiff 13 Class) access to numerous state-law benefits and protections. Plaintiffs accordingly are 14 similarly situated with and have suffered injuries similar to those suffered by the Class
15 Members. Fed.R.Civ.Proc. 23(a)(3).

16 135. Adequacy: Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of all
17 Class Members in the prosecution of this action and in the administration of all matters
18 relating to their claims. Fed.R.Civ.Proc. 23(a)(4).

19 136. Type of action: Because Defendants acted on grounds that apply to the 20 Class, and Plaintiffs seek no monetary damages, final injunctive relief and corresponding 21 declaratory relief for all Class Members is appropriate. Fed.R.Civ.Proc. 23(b)(2).

22 APPLICATION FOR PERMANENT INJUNCTION

23 137. Plaintiffs incorporate paragraphs 1-136 as though fully set forth.

24 138. Plaintiffs have been wronged and want Defendants stopped from 25 perpetrating similar wrongs on others.

26 139. Plaintiffs have suffered and will suffer permanent and personal harm absent
27 an order from this Court permanently enjoining Defendants from enforcing the Marriage
28 Discrimination Laws restricting the right of same-sex couples to marry or be married in Arizona.

1           140. Plaintiffs and the Plaintiff Class accordingly seek an order permanently
2 enjoining Defendants from enforcing the Marriage Discrimination Laws.

3           141. Although opposite-sex couples enjoy the benefits of marriage in Arizona,
4 the Defendants' denial of Plaintiffs' right to marry, or have their out-of-state marriage
5 recognized as valid in Arizona, has resulted and will result in concrete, irreparable harm
6 to Plaintiffs including, by way of example only: denial of spousal pension benefits; the 7 preference granted to heterosexual couples in adoption proceedings (A.R.S. § 8-103);
8 heterosexual spouses' (but not same-sex partners') receipt of workers' compensation
9 death benefits (A.R.S. § 23-1046(A)(2)); denial of similar burial (A.R.S. § 36-831), 10 community property (A.R.S. § 25-211) and early voting rights (A.R.S. § 16-548(B); the 11 right to file joint state tax returns; denial of the privilege not to testify against one's 12 spouse (A.R.S. § 13-4062); loss of intestacy rights (A.R.S. § 14-2102); the right to file a 13 wrongful death suit if his or her partner is killed (A.R.S. § 12-612(A)); and so on.

14           142. The Marriage Discrimination Laws also deny Plaintiffs eligibility for federal 15 benefits associated with taxes, immigration, social security, and many other areas. Many 16 rights and protections offered by the federal government turn on the law of the state in 17 which the couple lives. See, e.g., 29 C.F.R. § 825.122(b)(eligibility under Family Medical 18 Leave Act based on recognition of marriage under law of the state of residence at time of 19 application); 42 U.S.C. § 416(h)(1)(A)(i)(eligibility for social security benefits (same)).

20           143. The Court's order permanently enjoining Defendants from enforcing state
21 law banning same-sex marriage will prevent continued harm to Plaintiffs.

22
23 IV. PRAYER FOR RELIEF

24           WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray for judgment on Claims One, Two and Three as 25 follows:

26           144. Plaintiffs and the Class respectfully request a declaratory judgment and an 27 order for permanent injunctive relief under (a) Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 57 and 28 65, (b) 28 U.S.C. § 2201(a), and (c) any "further necessary or proper relief" under 28

1 U.S.C. § 2202.

2 145. Under these rules and statutes, Plaintiffs request that the Court construe
3 art. 30, §1 of the Arizona Constitution, and the Marriage Discrimination Laws, and enter
4 a declaratory judgment that these and all other laws of the State of Arizona banning,
5 refusing to recognize, or otherwise restricting same-sex marriage, violate the United 6 States Constitution and 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

7 146. Plaintiffs also respectfully ask this Court to construe Section 2 of DOMA,
8 and, if necessary, to enter a declaratory judgment stating that, if Defendants contend that 9 Section 2 permits the State of Arizona to avoid giving full faith and credit to a same-sex
10 marriage legally entered into in another state, then Section 2 exceeds the authority
11 granted to Congress under Article IV, and is therefore unconstitutional.

12 147. Based on these declarations, Plaintiffs respectfully seek entry of a 13 permanent injunction in favor of them and the Class (a) enjoining the Defendants, acting 14 in their official capacities, and all others under their supervision and control, and those 15 acting in concert with them, under color of the law of the State of Arizona, from enforcing 16 art. 30, § 1 of the Arizona Constitution and any Arizona statute that excludes gay men and 17 women from access to marriage in the State of Arizona; (b) requiring Defendants Janice 18 K. Brewer and Thomas C. Horne, in their official capacities as Governor and Attorney
19 General of the State of Arizona, respectively, to recognize the valid California marriages
20 of Joseph Connolly and Terrel Pochert, and Mason Hite and Chris Devine, and all other 21 similarly situated same-sex couples who have married out-of-state, as valid in the State of 22 Arizona; and, (c) compelling Defendant Michael K. Jeanes to accept the application of, 23 issue marriage licenses to, and record the returned marriage licenses from Suzanne 24 Cummins and Holly Mitchell, and Clark Rowley and David Chaney, and all other same-
25 sex couples residing in Maricopa County, Arizona who wish to marry and otherwise meet 26 the qualifications for marriage under the laws of Arizona, A.R.S. § 25-101 et seq.

27 148. Plaintiffs request a “speedy hearing” under Rule 57, Fed.R.Civ.Proc.
28 (Declaratory Judgment)(“The court may order a speedy hearing of a declaratory-

1 judgment action.”). Because Plaintiffs present important legal questions for resolution,
2 and no disputed material questions of fact, the Court would be justified in scheduling the 3 case for early hearing on motion for summary judgment.

4 149. Plaintiffs request an award of the costs and expenses of this action,
5 including attorneys’ fees. 42 U.S.C. § 1988(b)(if plaintiff “prevails” in section 1983 6 action, authorizing discretionary award of “a reasonable attorney’s fee” to plaintiff); see 7 Rhodes v. Stewart, 488 U.S. 1, 4 (1988)(per curiam)(injunction or declaratory usually 8 satisfies test for award of prevailing party attorney’s fees); Lefemine v. Wideman, 133 S.Ct.
9 9, 11 (2012)(per curiam)(same); Higher Taste, Inc. v. City of Tacoma, 717 F.3d 712 (9th Cir.
10 2013).

11 150. Plaintiffs request any further relief that the Court determines may be just or 12 equitable.
